

Bio Example

Dr. Smith is a Professor in the Department of Mechanical Engineering Department at the University of Chicago. He received his Bachelor's of Science at the University of Michigan in 2004, his Masters in Mechanical Engineering at the University of Akron in 2006, and his PhD in Mechanical Engineering at Georgia Tech in 2010. His teaching and research are focused on filtration and separation technologies and clean environment. He has published 50 papers in prestigious journals and in international congresses.